

TECHNOLOGY STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The Technology Student Association (TSA) is a national student organization focused on science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM).

TSA gives student members opportunities to learn by engaging in hands-on competitions, leadership experiences, teamwork, and real-world problem solving. Whether you like building, designing, coding, creating, or leading—there's a place for you in TSA.

Why Join TSA?

TSA provides a chance to:

- Compete in STEM and AI competitions
- Build leadership and teamwork skills
- Explore engineering, technology, and design
- Travel to local, state, and national conferences
- Meet student members who share your interests
- Gain skills that strengthen college, scholarship, and job opportunities
- Have fun while creating, building, and innovating

TSA Competitive Events

Members participate in competitions focused on engineering, coding, video production, architecture, robotics, fashion design, and more — applying their skills in real-world scenarios at the local, state, and national levels.

Where Leadership is Developed

TSA connects classroom learning to real-world experiences that build confidence, creativity, and future-ready skills.

Beyond Competition

Recognition and Achievement

Through local and state events, and the national TSA conference, TSA members can earn recognition and awards, strengthen their portfolios, and stand out to colleges and future employers.

Leadership Development

TSA members can take on leadership positions, collaborate in teams, and develop skills that extend into the future.

Community Impact

Through TSA's partnership with the American Red Cross, members apply their skills to support real community needs.

Why Members Choose TSA

- Learn by engaging in hands-on STEM and AI experiences
- Compete, travel, and represent your chapter, school, and state
- Build real-world skills you will use in the future
- Find your people and make new friends
- Enhance your profile for scholarships, college, and career opportunities

"There is something for everyone in TSA."

— TSA Member

Scan to learn more!

